COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, Plaintiff v.
BLANE JARRELL, Defendant

Omnibus Pretrial Motion—Motion To Dismiss or Alternative Motion To Suppress—Reliance on Anonymous Informant’s Tip—Reasonable Suspicion To Stop—Illegal Search and Seizure—Driving Under the Influence.

Defendant filed Omnibus Pretrial Motion in the nature of a Motion to Dismiss for lack of evidence, or in the alternative, a Motion to Suppress the evidence acquired as a result of an illegal search and seizure. Defendant claimed the stop was based solely on an anonymous tip without any independent corroboration or observation of illegal activity. The Court found that Officer Renner was justified in proceeding to the area relayed over the radio dispatch based on information received from an anonymous caller. However, the Court found there was no independent corroboration sufficient to support a reasonable suspicion of illegal activity to justify stopping Defendant’s vehicle for violation of Pennsylvania Vehicle Code.

In the Court of Common Pleas of Northampton County, Pennsylvania, Criminal Division, No. C0048CR2002002855.

Order of Court entered granting Defendant’s Motion to Dismiss.

JANET HAY SUBERS, for the Commonwealth.

ERV D. MCLAIN, for Defendant.

Order of Court entered September 16, 2003 by MCFADDEN, J.

OPINION

This matter is before the Court pursuant to Blane Jarrell’s (Defendant’s) Omnibus Pretrial Motion in the nature of a Motion to Dismiss for lack of evidence or, in the alternative, a Motion to Suppress the evidence acquired as a result of an illegal search and seizure. Following a review of the preliminary hearing transcript of Tuesday, September 17, 2002, we hereby make the following:

FINDINGS OF FACT

1. On August 4, 2002, at approximately 3:13 A.M., Officer John Renner of the Forks Township Police Department was in a marked police unit when he was dispatched to the area of Frost Hollow and North Delaware Drive on a complaint of the presence of a reckless driver (N.T. at 4).
2. Based on information received from an anonymous caller, Officer Renner went to the area of Frost Hollow and 611, near the area of 7 Aarons Place, later determined to be the Defendant Blane Jarrell’s address (N.T. at 5, 9).
3. Officer Renner drove past Aarons Place, but did not observe the white Chevy Cavalier described in the dispatch information (N.T. at 5, 9).

4. While at a stop sign at the intersection of Zucksville Road and Sullivan Trail, Officer Renner observed a white Chevy Cavalier heading north on Sullivan Trail (N.T. at 5, 10).

5. The white Cavalier, driven by the Defendant, turned its left-turn signal on to make a left hand turn onto Zucksville Road, where Officer Renner's police unit was located (N.T. at 5).

6. Officer Renner observed the white Cavalier signal for a left-hand turn at which time it made a wide left turn onto Zucksville Road (N.T. at 5).

8. The vehicle continued the turn into an arc at which time the left front wheel of the vehicle crossed over the double yellow center line and the back left wheel touched the center line (N.T. at 6, 11, 14-16).

9. Thereafter the vehicle straightened out into the right lane of traffic, but still driving on the center line with the two left wheels (N.T. at 6, 11, 14-16, 28).

10. There is no fog line on Zucksville Road where Defendant made his left turn (N.T. 11).

11. There is a curb on Zucksville Road, which Defendant did not hit (N.T. 11, 27, 29).

12. The vehicle continued to drive with the two left wheels on the center line for approximately 50 more feet and made the next immediate left onto Aarons Place (N.T. at 6, 14).

13. Officer Renner then turned around and activated his overhead lights (N.T. at 6).

14. Officer Renner did not observe the vehicle making the turn into Aarons Place, and therefore observed no violations at this time (N.T. at 17).

15. Officer Renner followed behind the vehicle to 7 Aarons Place, where the vehicle came to a somewhat abrupt stop.

16. At that time Officer Renner called the county informing them he was doing a vehicle stop and got out of his vehicle; the Defendant, Blane Jarrell, also began getting out of his vehicle (N.T. at 6, 17).

17. Officer Renner instructed Defendant to get back into his vehicle, at which time Defendant refused (N.T. at 6, 7).

18. Officer Renner instructed Defendant again to get back into his vehicle, and as the defendant got into his vehicle he used the open door jam and the vehicle to balance himself (N.T. at 6, 7).

19. Officer Renner then approached the vehicle and detected a very strong odor of an alcoholic malt brewed beverage on the defendant and in the vehicle (N.T. at 7).

20. Upon reaching the vehicle, Officer Renner saw a passenger in the vehicle (N.T. at 7).

21. Officer Renner then asked the Defendant for his driver's license, insurance, and registration, at which time Officer Renner's overhead lights and spotlights were on (N.T. 7, 21-22).

22. Defendant reached into his pocket for his driver's license, at which time he began fumbling around and looking through the cards retrieved from his pocket two times for his driver's license (N.T. 19-21).

23. The passenger reached into the glove compartment and handed multiple papers to the Defendant to search for his registration card, which he retrieved and handed to Officer Renner (N.T. at 7, 22-23).

24. Defendant could not find his insurance card (N.T. 7, 23).

25. Officer Renner detected an odor of alcohol emanating from Defendant and asked him to step out of the vehicle to administer standardized field sobriety tests (N.T. at 7).

26. Upon exiting the vehicle, Defendant again grabbed onto the car door to stand erect and keep his balance (N.T. at 7).

27. When asked to submit to field sobriety tests, Defendant refused and became belligerent, asking why the police were harassing him and claiming he was not drinking (N.T. at 7, 8).

28. At this time, Officer Kevin Meyer arrived and observed the Defendant behaving in a belligerent manner and swaying from side to side (N.T. at 30).

29. Officer Meyer also smelled the strong odor of alcoholic beverage on the Defendant (N.T. at 31).

30. Upon refusing a second request to submit to field sobriety tests, Officer Renner told Defendant he was under arrest and placed Defendant in the back of Officer Meyer's police unit and transported him to the Easton DUI Center for a blood test (N.T. at 8, 25, 31).

31. Defendant was noted by Officer Meyer as being very shaky on his legs when exiting the police unit at the Easton DUI Center, requiring assistance to exit the cruiser and when walking to the door of the DUI Center (N.T. 32).

32. Officer Renner advised Defendant of the implied consent law, at which time Defendant refused to submit to a blood test (N.T. at 8).

DISCUSSION

Defendant argues that the stop of Defendant's vehicle by Officer Renner was based on an uncorroborated anonymous call which failed to establish the requisite grounds for the stop of Defendant's vehicle and therefore, the Court should dismiss the case for lack of evidence or, in the alternative, suppress the evidence acquired as a result of an illegal search and seizure. The Commonwealth counters that Officer Renner had articulable and reasonable grounds to suspect the Defendant had violated the Pennsylvania Vehicle Code and therefore, the evidence obtained as a result of that stop should not be suppressed. We agree with the Defendant.

Defendant argues that Officer Renner's stop of Defendant's vehicle was based on an uncorroborated anonymous call that failed to establish any grounds for the stop of the Defendant's vehicle. Defendant is correct in his argument that an "anonymous call does not by itself provide enough indicia of reliability for the police to make an investigatory stop of the motor vehicle." Commonwealth v. Swartz, 787 A.2d 1021 (Pa. Super. 2001). "The informant's reliability, veracity, and basis of knowledge are all relevant factors." Commonwealth v. Hayward, 756 A.2d 23, 27 (Pa. Super. 2000); citing Alabama v. White, 496 U.S. 325, 328, 110 S.Ct. 2412, 2415, 110 L.Ed. 2d 301 (1990). The Hayward court continued by stating that the informant must provide police with "specific and articulable facts" that would lead the police to reasonably suspect that the person may be involved in criminal activity. Hayward, supra at 27. Therefore, when considering the reliability of an anonymous tip, the court must look to the "totality of circumstances" and determine whether the informant's tip established the necessary reasonable suspicion of criminal activity. Id. at 28. The Hayward court stated that:

if police receive unverified information from an unknown person, which consists solely of a generalized description of a person allegedly engaged in criminal activity at a particular location, that information, in and of itself, does not provide the police with the requisite reasonable suspicion to detain and search an individual who merely happens to be at the specified location and who matches the general description given by the informant. Some other independent corroboration of the individual's involvement in criminal activity is required.

Id. at 29-30.

However, the court continued and stated that:

[t]his is not to say that anonymous tips are without any worth or utility. [They] have useful value to the police in that they serve as the basis and starting point of further investigation. ... When the police receive unverified information that a person is engaged in illegal activity, the police may observe the suspect and conduct an investigation. If police surveillance produces a reasonable suspicion of criminal conduct, the suspect may be stopped and questioned.

Id. at 38 (emphasis added).

The Superior Court of Pennsylvania stated in Commonwealth v. Starr, 739 A.2d 191, 195 (Pa. Super. 1999) that "an investigatory traffic stop may be based upon an officer's observation of erratic driving." See e.g., Commonwealth v. Hamme, 400 Pa. Super 537, 583 A.2d 1245 (1990); Commonwealth v. Lymph, 372 Pa. Super. 97, 538 A.2d 1368 (1988). "Also, where the officer has not witnessed erratic driving first hand, authority for a traffic stop nonetheless exists where the officer receives a report from another officer or citizen witness and later personally observes the erratic driving.” Starr, supra at 195; Hamme, supra; Commonwealth v. Levesque, 469 Pa. 118, 364 A.2d 932 (1976). However, “if [the] tip has relatively low degree of reliability, more information [is] required to establish the requisite quantum of suspicion than would be required if the tip were more reliable.” Commonwealth v. Lohr, 715 A.2d 459, 461 (Pa. Super. 1998) (quoting Commonwealth v. Ogborn, 410 Pa. Super. 164, 169, 599 A.2d 656, 659 (1991). Therefore, if the tip is based on an anonymous call, “the tip should be treated with particular suspicion.” Lohr, supra at 462; see Commonwealth v. Jackson, 548 Pa. 484, 490, 698 A.2d 571, 573 (1997).

In the case at bar, an anonymous caller called 911 and reported there was a reckless driver in the area of Frost Hollow and Delaware Drive (N.T. at 4). The anonymous caller described the vehicle as a white Chevy Cavalier. This information was reported to Officer Renner over the police dispatch radio (N.T. at 5, 9). Based on this information, Officer Renner immediately proceeded to the described area, which was near the Defendant’s address of 7 Aarons Place. Officer Renner did not observe the vehicle (N.T. at 5, 9). However, while at a stop sign at the intersection of Zucksville Road and Sullivan Trail, Officer Renner observed a white Chevy Cavalier heading north on Sullivan Trail (N.T. at 5, 10). Officer Renner observed the white Cavalier signal for a left-hand turn and make a wide left turn onto Zucksville Road. Officer Renner was alerted to the vehicle based on the description received (N.T. at 5, 12). While continuing to observe the vehicle in his rearview mirror, the vehicle continued to make an arc and go over the center line with his left front tire (N.T. at 6, 11, 14-16). The back left tire was driving on the center line (N.T. 14-16). Officer Renner then saw the vehicle straighten out into the right lane of traffic, but continuing to drive on the center line with the left two tires (N.T. at 5-6).

Therefore, although the information was based on an unknown informant, Hayward makes clear that Officer Renner was warranted in proceeding to the area described to conduct an investigation. Defendant’s comparison of the facts in the case at bar with those in Swartz is misguided. In Swartz, the officer pulled the defendant over based solely on information received from the police dispatch. He did not observe any independent violations of the Vehicle Code. Swartz, supra at 1023. Conversely, in the case at bar, Officer Renner observed the Defendant making a wide left turn, crossing over the double yellow line with his left front tire, and riding on the double yellow line with both left tires. Therefore, Officer Renner did not rely solely on the anonymous informant’s tip in stopping Defendant. The question becomes, however, whether the driving Officer Renner personally witnessed constituted “erratic driving” to create the reasonable suspicion required to make an investigatory traffic stop.

When an officer stops a vehicle to determine whether the driver has violated a provision of the Vehicle Code, “it is incumbent [sic] upon the officer to articulate specific facts possessed by him, at the time of the questioned stop, which would provide probable cause to believe that the vehicle or the driver was in violation of some provision of the Code.” Commonwealth v. Battaglia, 802 A.2d 652, 655 (Pa. Super. 2002) (quoting Commonwealth v. Whitmyer, 542 Pa. 545, 550, 668 A.2d 1113, 1116 (1995)). The courts of this Commonwealth recognize that while the Commonwealth has an interest in enforcing the motor vehicle rules to ensure safety of other drivers, an individual also has a reasonable expectation of privacy. Therefore, a police officer must have specific facts to justify an intrusion on an individual’s privacy. Commonwealth v. Slonaker, 795 A.2d 397, 400 (Pa. Super. 2002) (citing Commonwealth v. Gleason, 567 Pa. 111, 785 A.2d 983 (2001)).

In Commonwealth v. Gleason, an officer observed the driver cross the fog line approximately two or three times over a distance of about one quarter mile. Id. at 985. Based on this information, the officer stopped the vehicle to investigate. Id. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court affirmed the trial court holding that the officer was not justified in stopping the vehicle. Id. at 989. The trial court noted that “[g]iven the early morning hour, the fact that there was no other traffic on the roadway and the rather momentary nature of defendant’s vehicle crossing the fog line on two perhaps three occasions, the officer erred in believing he had justification to stop defendant’s vehicle.” Id. at 985-86. Our Supreme Court found that “the lack of any evidence ... that Appellant’s driving created a safety hazard leads us to agree [that] ... there was insufficient evidence to support a ... violation.” Id. at 989.

Comparing the facts of this case with those of Gleason, it is apparent that Officer Renner did not have sufficient evidence to stop Defendant’s vehicle. The evidence shows that Defendant properly signaled while making his left-hand turn and, although wide, he crossed over the center line only once with his front left tire. His back left tire was touching the center line. Once Defendant crossed the yellow line with his front left tire, he immediately straightened out and continued for only 50 more feet with both left tires on the center line, before making another left turn. Officer Renner noted no violations with this second left turn. Further, as in Gleason, this incident took place in the early morning hours, there was no evidence that any other vehicles were on the road at the time, and Defendant was only crossing the center line and riding on the center line for a momentary 50 feet. Therefore, Defendant's motion to dismiss is granted.

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

1. The anonymous tip alone did not justify Officer Renner in stopping Defendant's vehicle.
2. Officer Renner did not possess separate articulable and reasonable grounds to stop Defendant's vehicle for suspected violation of the Pennsylvania Vehicle Code.
